Carter Brothers Construction is a respected Cheyenne builder celebrating 20 years in business... and another exciting event as well. Today the family was notified and Carter brothers was announced as Wyoming's first-ever "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition" as plans for the build got underway. This was a proud moment for this locally owned family business.

"For us, this is an opportunity to help a local family whose interests are similar to our own; I've got a big heart for animals, and animal rescue is an important issue for all of us," said Mitch Carter, a vice-president of Carter Brothers Construction.

Volunteerism is also a big talking-point for the Carters, who are very active in organizations such as the Elk Foundation and Cheyenne Frontier Days.

"We're excited to see how the community comes together to help this family out... We believe in Cheyenne and hope to make this project a huge success with the help of the neighborly people of our city."

While Carter Brothers Construction – along with hundreds of volunteers and workers – join Ty and the designers in rebuilding their home, the Miller family will go on vacation to Washington, D.C.

Those wishing to volunteer to help may visit www.CarterBrosConstruction.com to fill out a volunteer application or to make a donation to the build.

The episode "Miller Family" will air during the 2008 season.

The location address is: The Miller Family, 11804 E. Four Mile Rd., Cheyenne, Wyoming 82009.

The design team for this episode of "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition" will feature team leader Ty Pennington and designers Paige Hemmis, Eduardo Xol, John Littlefield and Rib Hillis.

The series is produced by Endemol USA, a division of Endemol Holding. It's executive-produced by Denise Cramsey. David Goldberg is the president of Endemol USA.
