A press-conference with the Miller family has been planned for 10:00 a.m., Saturday, 25 August. The press is invited to attend.

The generous response of citizens wishing to help has been overwhelming and is much appreciated. Those who have already registered online are still requested to report for the shift(s) they selected, but the build has no more need for further general volunteers.

The volunteer tradespeople and their teams have been working around the clock with the support of general volunteers on four-hour shifts. The crews are weary, but soldier on with some extra help, after a plea was made this morning for additional skilled workers. The response to that plea was a resounding statement of community, as more contractors reported to the site for duty.

Those wishing to help may visit www.CarterBrosConstruction.com to make a donation to the build. Monetary contributions are always appreciated in any denomination, and all offerings will aid the Miller family.

PLEASE COME OUT AND CHEER ON THE WORKERS FROM THE SPECTATOR SECTION! The crews have been working non-stop and would appreciate the encouragement! Parking is available at the fairgrounds on Field Station Road, with shuttle service to the site. Limited-edition commemorative silicone bracelets, featuring the build's "Compassion ~ Teamwork ~

Community" tagline, are available for a donation of five dollars (proceeds to benefit the Miller family). "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition" merchandise is also available for sale in the spectator area. And don't forget your sunscreen – it's been hot out there!

The episode "Miller Family" will air during the 2008 season.

The location address is: The Miller Family, 11804 E. Four Mile Rd., Cheyenne, Wyoming 82009.
